A CONNECTION

Professor Superintendent J. H. Cessna Talks to O. H. W. Address

Editor Gazette: I desire to state that in my reminiscences before the Educational Association, during Old Home Week, I unintentionally, from hurry and want of time, omitted the following names: John S. Cessna, Hyndman, Carlisle, Altoona, McKeesport, West St. Clair, Pa. I think I will say here about what I would have said concerning these persons, had I not omitted them.

As Mr. Mann's choice as I know them Dr. Frank Amos, and others as directors, were efficient helpers in the school work. The school was founded and graded under the management of these men.

In Hyndman, William McKee, S. Williams, Dr. Miller, Mr. Alfathier, Mr. Hobbins and others were prominent in the school work. The schools increased from one school taught by the present Rev. J. D. Cessna, in one little school room, to the present nine graded schools, including accommodations for several schools.

Among these, the directors and school workers in Carlisle I recall James O'Neil, Alex. Prosser, Mr. William, Mr. McIntyre, Mr. Pluke, Mr. Mackay and others.

Hopewell was blessed with such directors as Cam. Mitchellberger, J. Manning, A. E. Simons, Mr. Bowers, Dr. DeWeller and others, as I knew them.

When I think of Monroe my mind runs back to the times I taught school in this district, and the pleasant memories of the teachers, the Barman, Mrs. Snyder, the Millers, the Williams, the O'Neals, the Swartz, and others, who were educational leaders in this great township, which was named in honor of the President who emancipated the great Monroe, and who has a grand figure in the affairs, not only of this nation, but of the civilized world. I desire to say further that no district in the county has produced more and better teachers than has Monroe.

In West St. Clair, the cause of education, as I know it, had far less friends and promoters than any place in the Bedford Hills. The Williams, the O'Neals, the Millers, the Hornes and others, who were among any community can be fairly proud. It was in West St. Clair, while visiting schools, that an old citizen stopped me, as he came from the school and asked, "Did you like the teachers?" I replied that I had not. "Well," said he, "he has liked every child in school, now, he has liked, somebody ought to like him."

Rainsburg borough remains to be mentioned. Such men as Dr. J. G. Hughes, B. E. Gump, George Barley, Joseph Cessna, George Cessna, David Shaffer and others were identified with the school work in this district during my superintendency. But I can't easily dismiss Rainsburg without casting a thought back to the time when I attended school at the old Allegheny Male and Female Seminary. I see in my mind the pleasant faces of the instructors and the many students who used to be there. I wonder where they all are now. Among my teachers were the Hon. J. H. Longenecker, who taught me arithmetic, language, etc., and Moses A. Potts, Esq., who taught me algebra, geometry, etc. These gentlemen were not only the best teachers I ever had, but they have been among my best friends ever since.

When we think that the greater number of the school workers mentioned in these reminiscences have passed over the river, we can't but think that

"We too, shall come to the river side, We are nearer its waters each evening, To some are the floods of the river still, As we ford our way to the other hill, To others the waves run fierce and wild, Yet we shall all come to the old Home of the undelivered."

J. H. Cessna.

The Event of the Season

The Metropolitan Clothing and Shoe House of Bedford begins the world's greatest sacrifice sale on Saturday, August 17, at 9 a. m. This firm is compelled, for certain reasons, to sell their entire stock at a sacrifice in 15 days. The prices on fine clothing, men's furnishing goods, boots and shoes, ladies' coats, skirts and waists, are being cut to almost nothing. Thousands of people will hurry to this great sale and the goods will go out with a rush. See ad on page three of this paper for particulars.

Tomorrow's Comet

Look for the comet in the eastern sky tomorrow morning between 3 and 4:30 a'clock. It is about midway between the Twins in the northeast and Orion in the southeast. Wednesday morning it was above and quite near a rather conspicuous star. By tomorrow morning it will have moved below it and to the left. It is showing a quite conspicuous tail as it approaches the sun. In the telescope it shows a beautiful coma and bright nucleus in the head.

TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE

Professor Morse's Message—Electrical Mystery—Came Abundant and Nation-Growing Matter.

New York, August 14.—Hittner than the cry that went up when Rachel mourned for her children and refused to be comforted because they were not, is the cry that shakes our beloved land today from Maine to Texas. One hundred years ago such a thing as a telegraphers' strike was undreamed of. The discovery of Professor Morse, that intelligent sounds could be transmitted, any distance along an iron wire, was looked upon as a pleasing amusement in the laboratory of the chemist; it was his mission to teach upon the world the most wonderful discovery that the children of men were vouchsafed since our first parents, for their disobedience to the Divine prohibition, were banished from the fair fields of Paradise.

The few undeveloped sounds that Professor Morse, step by step, along the highway to a glorious and unchallenged immortality, developed a grander and more universal language than all that was said at the Tower of Babel; time and space were annihilated. It takes but forty minutes to span this mighty globe of ours; the lightning messenger of Jehovah is harnessed by our earthly hand for time; this messenger bids good-day to Lucifer, son of the morning, and spanning space, announces to expectant listeners at the setting sun, the splendors of a fest not yet concluded at the other side of the earth.

The towering mountains are not enough for man's ambition but he must reach also to conquer among the ocean's coral reefs where are the swimmers and fairy kingdoms, which have been scooped since creation's dawn.

Man found his new possession as his sails with winds of copper and steel and with a mighty ocean cable secured the command for all time. The first message that was sent across the stormy tide, which gladdened the heart of Victoria, England's noblest Queen, was, "Glory to God in the Highest; peace on earth, good will to men." What is the lesson of the century for beyond all doubt there is a mysterious lesson to the world when earth and heaven combine.

Whence may we look for the prophet who shall hold the key that shall unlock the lesson of these tremendous mysteries so that "he who runs may read?"

A key-note of electrical mysteries was sounded a few years ago in Martinique. One lovely afternoon the townfolk were enjoying a feast on the mountain side; suddenly faint rumbling and trembling were noticed, and the sky was dark and forbidding. No danger was feared from the crater above as it had been silent for centuries; like lightning came most destructive fire, followed by a roar of thunder that seemed to shake the globe, while a lurid pillar of flame shot up towards the sky and, where Paradise had reigned supreme, in a few hours nothing remained but the besom of destruction. Next came the ghastly wave across the Pacific and hundreds of fruitful islands were sunk in the sea and thousands of lives lost. The great eruption of Mount Loa in the Sandwich Islands gave Mark Twain, who saw it, an opportunity to describe its glowing splendor, which he did with such power and beauty as to attract immediate attention—and from that began that wonderful evolution which, as I have before said, placed Mr. Clemens in the front rank in his day and generation. The fearful earthquake of San Francisco was one of the phenomenal horrors, followed by the disasters of Valparaiso and Jamaica.

The destruction by fire at Coney Island seems a minor matter to many but within a few years several millions of dollars have been expended in beautifying and embellishing it and making it attractive to all sorts of people. It is easy of access and can be reached by at least five million people for a five-cent fare; the transient daily population is sometimes 50,000 and it is safe to say that at least one-half of Greater New York will want to see "so much for so little money."

It is a great meeting place for politicians; the Sunday before the fire every prominent Republican in the state could have been seen on the veranda of some one of the hotels. The Republicans are busy patching up the holes in their political fences and getting ready for fall elections, and it is currently believed that our worthy President is lending a helping hand.

My grouping such a number of calamities together in the first part of this letter was to show forth a condition of our national affairs difficult to understand, notwithstanding our exceptionally bad luck in fires, labor strikes, earthquakes, stormy seas, etc., for this nation has prospered and is richer and greater today than it has ever been. While Providence has been punishing us with one hand it has dealt out liberal blessings with the other; crops are abundant and our only trouble is to find men to gather them in. Europe is ready to take every dollar's worth that we can spare at generous prices. The last fiscal year shows an increase on the credit side

MICHAEL MILEGAS

Tardily Honored by the United States Government

Rev. Michael Reed Minnich, of Philadelphia, a former Bedfordite, who is now visiting relatives in town, carries with him one of the new ten dollar gold certificates recently issued by the Treasury Department and bearing the portrait of Michael Milegas, who is designated as "First Treasurer of the United States."

The editors of The Gazette will recall that some weeks ago we published a review of a book entitled, "A Memoir of the First Treasurer of the United States" by Rev. M. A. Minnich. At the time we referred to the book as containing clean-cut and convincing argument for the contention that the Revolutionary patriot was entitled to the unique distinction of having been the first United States Treasurer.

In addition to the placing of the name of Michael Milegas on the new bank notes his portrait has been hanging upon the walls of Independence Hall. This is a fitting honor to the memory of the early financier who filled the position of treasurer during the thirteen years between 1775 and 1789, and directly to the efforts of Rev. Minnich in securing and publishing a chain of facts from the records so woven together as to produce an argument that could not be attacked.

Mr. Minnich was substantially assisted in his self-imposed task by J. Henry Meyer of the firm, Ant. Borel & Co., San Francisco, to whom, with his wife, the volume is dedicated.

The Milegases of this county are descended from John Frederick, a brother of Michael Milegas, the father of "The First Treasurer" whom the government has been induced to honor a century and a quarter after his death.

Mr. Minnich may well feel gratified at his achievement in a difficult and highly contested field.

Mrs. James K. Covatt

Eliza R., wife of James A. Covatt, manager of the Everett Light and Water Company, died at her home in that place on Monday, August 12, aged 44 years and three months. She had been in delicate health for several years. Mrs. Covatt was born in Colerain township on May 12, 1853, her maiden name being Eliza Rebecca Wesel. About four years ago Mr. and Mrs. Covatt moved from Bedford to Everett, having resided in Saxton several years previous to that time, where Mr. Covatt conducted a jewelry store. Since the age of 14 years Mrs. Covatt had been a consistent member of the Lutheran church. Her husband and two children, Charles and Eliza May, survive to mourn the loss of a faithful and devoted wife and mother.

Funeral services were held at the late home in Everett at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Charles G. Russell, pastor of the Lutheran church. The body was brought here and interred in the Bedford cemetery.

Mrs. Harvey Shaffer

Mrs. Myrtle, wife of Harvey Shaffer of Everett, died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Finish, at Graceville, where she had been on a visit, on Sunday, August 11, aged 23 years, seven months and 26 days. Death was due to consumption. She was a daughter of William Woy and was born in Ray's Cove on December 15, 1883. Her husband and two children survive her. Funeral services were held in the Graceville Lutheran church on Tuesday, conducted by Rev. Petrea. Interment in the Lutheran graveyard at Graceville.

Miss Elizabeth B. Layton

Miss Elizabeth Belle Layton, who has been an invalid for over thirty years, died at the home of her parents, near Mattie on Tuesday, August 6, aged 45 years, five months and 16 days. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Layton, who survive her. Services were held at the Rock Hill Christian church on August 8 by Rev. Logue, assisted by Rev. Snyder. Interment in the cemetery adjoining.

Clayton Johnson

Clayton Johnson, colored, died at his home at this place about 5 o'clock Monday evening, August 12. He had been employed at the home of Mrs. Jane Kerr and had been ill only a few days. Deceased was a son of Moses Johnson, deceased, and was aged about 22 years. He leaves two brothers, William and Calvin, of Altoona, four sisters, Belle, Mary, Emma, Rebecca. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. H. S. Hicks. Interment in the cemetery near town.

At the Arandale

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith and daughter Gladys, of St. Louis, are guests at the Arandale. Mr. Smith is one of the sons of the county who has forged to the front in life's battle. He was raised in Schellsburg, clerked for Capt. S. S. Metzger in Bedford and later went to St. Louis where he finally became a member of the firm of Simmons Hardware Co., the largest concern of its kind in the United States. He was honored as one of the Vice Presidents of the St. Louis Exposition. His daughter, Miss Gladys, christened the St. Louis in the Philadelphia yards a couple years ago.

Carberry-Reed

Woodward Carberry and Miss Della Reed, both of Hopewell, were married at Trinity Lutheran parsonage, Bedford, on August 8; Rev. M. L. Culler performing the ceremony.

Women Who Wear Well

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life often make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliancy vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage and motherhood. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant pelvic drains and weaknesses which too often come with marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness.

As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs, so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form once witness to the fact in renewed comeliness. Nearly a million women have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label—contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs. Made wholly of those native, American, medicinal roots most highly recommended by leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments.

For nursing mothers, or for those broken down in health by too frequent bearing of children, also for the expectant mothers, to prepare the system for the coming of baby and making its advent easy and almost painless, there is no medicine quite so good as "Favorite Prescription." It can do no harm in any condition of the system. It is a most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening nerve tonic, adapted to woman's delicate system by a physician of large experience in the treatment of woman's peculiar ailments.

Dr. Pierce may be consulted by letter free of charge. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, "Invalids' Home" and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

Bulletin.

THE CALL OF THE SEA.

"The water is fine; come in!"

This is the call of the sea, the generous invitation of Old Neptune to partake of the delights of his realm, and it comes clear and distinct from each of the points in the greatest chain of seashore resorts in the world—the wave-washed New Jersey coast.

Gay Atlantic City; witching Wildwood; New Cape May in the first flush of its rejuvenation; Sea Isle City, Ocean City, with their smaller sister-resorts nearby; Asbury Park and Long Branch where sylvan shades meet incoming billows—each echo the call to young and old: "Come one; come all.

Unequalled opportunities are offered to pay a visit to the New Jersey sea coast resorts in the great seashore excursions of the Pennsylvania Railroad now being run at frequent intervals.

From Pittsburgh and points in Western Pennsylvania the remaining dates are August 29, and September 12. Tickets are sold to Atlantic City, Wildwood, Cape May, and other resorts on the Southern New Jersey coast, and to Asbury Park, Long Branch, and resorts on the Northern New Jersey coast at very low rates.

These tickets are good for return passage within sixteen days, including date of excursion, and are good to stop off at Philadelphia on the return trip within limit. Special trains are run on dates of excursions through to Atlantic City via Delaware River Bridge Route without change of cars.

Full details of these fine outings beside the sea may be obtained of Ticket Agents.

SHEATZ AND THE MACHINE

The election of John O. Sheatz to the office of State Treasurer would be a mistake that it might take years to repair. It is argued in Republican papers, the same papers that have steadfastly supported the Penrose gang—that Mr. Sheatz has been an independent in the Legislature, and, indeed, such he has, but the present relations of the candidate with the machine that made him its candidate are not such as would warrant thinking voters who have been working for reform to support him.

When the graft monster is showing its head in other departments of the state government than the one that recently underwent an investigation, it is most essential that there be in the Treasury Department at Harrisburg one who owes no allegiance to the gang of grafters who have looted the treasury and disgraced the state.

Concerning his candidacy the Philadelphia Record recently said editorially:

"The same spirit that made John O. Sheatz chairman of the Appropriations Committee dictated to the machine managers his nomination for State Treasurer in spite of their internal rage and repugnance. In their precarious position they could not take the risk of repeating the experiment of a Harris, a Mathews or a Plummer, and like prudent gamblers, they concluded to 'hedge' by choosing another kind of a candidate. But it should be plain to all reflecting voters, of whatever party, that, without disparagement of John O. Sheatz, his election would be a new triumph of the Penrose-McNichol machine, with all that such a victory could imply.

"What the machine dreads most of all is the election in the Democratic candidate of a man of the aggressive type of John G. Harman, who will owe it no gratitude for favors, but who will relentlessly unearth every financial abuse that may come within his ken. It would be an egregious mistake to imagine that machine iniquity in state administration has suddenly ended with the Palace of Graft. Rank abuses are now cropping out in more than one state department having control of large sums of public money, and the only hope of thoroughly exposing and arresting these iniquities is in the election of a State Treasurer having no relations with the machine."

Jolly House Party

The Misses Richards, of near New Paris, gave a house party in honor of their classmates, Misses Emma Coker of Pine Hill, Kathryn Hemminger of Rockwood and Nevada Emerick of Shanksville, all of the class of '07 of the California State Normal, and their cousin, Miss Elta Ankeny, of Otterbein University.

Among the features of entertainment was a picnic held in the beautiful grove of Mr. Rock, which was attended by about 50 young people of New Paris and vicinity. A sumptuous feast was served, Miss Mary Richards acting as toast mistress. The toasts consisted of readings by the California girls and Miss Ling of Johnstown, interspersed by German songs. The event closed with the singing of songs and bidding adieu. All had a very enjoyable time.

THE TRADES' DISPLAY

Attractive Feature of Last Week's Celebration.

We were compelled last week, because of lack of space, to omit a detailed account of the trades' display, which was one of the most important features of the Old Home Week celebration and was witnessed by the largest crowd of the week.

The parade formed on East Pitt street and was headed by Chief Marshal S. F. Statler who was followed by a carriage in which were riding John P. Reed, Esq., the oldest citizen of Bedford; Hon. B. F. Meyers of Harrisburg, for a number of years editor of The Gazette; Hon. William P. Schell, Hon. William Hartley and Capt. A. E. Schell.

We were unable to secure a detailed account of the Everett division, which was a most creditable display and clearly revealed the energy of the tradesmen and merchants of the "big borough down the way."

The Osterburg band headed the second division, which was made up as follows: Manager Wing and a party from the Springs in a beautifully decorated trolley; a white and blue float representing Bedford, carrying a number of pretty and merry girls; Port Bedford P. Nut Factory float, filled with the girls of the factory, souvenirs thrown out; J. L. McLaughlin & Sons' float displaying product of Bedford Handle Factory, driven by Catharine McLaughlin; F. H. Brightbill's blacksmith shop on wheels and decorated buggy; the carriage of Clothier Oppenheimer, souvenirs thrown out, float of the De Laval Separator Co., A. W. Fletcher, local agent, souvenirs distributed; piece of artillery drawn by four horses.

The Saxton band headed the next division which consisted of the Bedford Fire department, engine, hook and ladder wagon and hose carriage, all artistically decorated; float representing Corle's Variety Store, driven by Miss Irene Corle; Conestoga wagon drawn by six fine horses and driven by John H. Koons of Cessna; the large float of Blackburn-Russell Co., accompanied by S. A. Cessna and Frank Naus, horsemen, souvenirs thrown out; Davidson Lumber Co. float; Charles A. Wertz, display of fruit; Metropolitan Clothing and Shoe House, large shoe on wheels; hay tedder decorated and driven by W. P. Cromwell; Davidson Brothers; Barnett's Department Store white and pink float occupied by clerks; National Biscuit Co., which was arranged by R. W. Burr and in charge of Salesman T. P. Kenney—biscuit boxes arranged in various designs; large float filled with girls representing the boroughs and townships of the county, girls dressed in white and wearing red sashes; decorated autos of H. H. Lysinger, A. C. Blackburn, F. H. Todd, J. C. Wineman, Patrick Hughes—Alice Blackburn, aged 5, operated her father's auto; Ross Lysinger's horseless vehicle, pushed by a mule; traction engine, George Wagner, Everett.

The large float containing little girls dressed in white and representing the several states of the union was broken in the western part of the town and could not proceed, though the girls walked during a considerable part of the parade.

HOME WEEK REFLECTIONS

"Quiet Observer" Pleased With Big Demonstration.

As a quiet observer of this delectable week, I desire to give the impression it made on my mind. In a few words I may say that the "Home-Coming" was a grand success in every way and along all lines, and for its successful outcome—much, very much, must be attributed to the efficiency, and admirable arrangements and their prompt execution by the president of the organization and his able, competent, and hard working committees; to the indefatigable efforts of our Chief Burgess, John R. Jordan; the State Constabulary who, together with our efficient town police, preserved perfect order, and by their presence drove many pick-pockets and thugs from the town, to the efficient train service of the P. R. R., under the efficient management of the able and courteous superintendent, Wilbur Cooper, and his energetic and zealous corps of assistants along the entire line, including all from Huntingdon to Cumberland; to the spontaneous response of the home-comers from more than twenty states and many counties within the states; and last but not least, to the generous and unselfish interest taken in Home Week by the entire population of the town and county of Bedford.

During the whole period of my long life I have never witnessed such a large concourse of people who were so orderly, cheerful and happy; and their cheerfulness and happiness may be accounted for in the sweet and soul-stirring music of the Everett, Saxton, Hopewell and Osterburg bands, the Junata Quartette and the Bedford Orchestra, and the grand music by the bands which accompanied the several Secret Orders. The most impressive part of the entire week was Sunday evening, when nearly the entire population, with many home-comers, of all denominations, met in the Public Square and with uncovered heads, and melodious music, offered up their fervent prayers and praises to our merciful and beneficent Father and the Triune God.

When I consider that more than one thousand of the sons and daughters of "Old Mother Bedford," many of them over 80 years of age, who left their native hills and valleys for lands in other states, returned to gaze once more upon their beloved childhood homes after being absent 30, 40, 53 and 55 years, it is a wonderful exhibition of love of Home and Country. I desire to express their love and appreciation of every home-come for the self-sacrificing spirit which led them to come so far, under great fatigue and expense, to join with us in this memorable feast of love, friendship and cheer. And to our people I can only say "God bless you," for it is "better to give than to receive."

Quiet Observer.

HARRISBURG LETTER

Prison Looming Up for Capitol Grafters.

REPORT COMPLETED

Last Sunday at Beach Haven, N. J., by Legislative Commission—Treasurer Berry the Instigator.

After more than six months' work the Legislative Commission, which has been investigating the charges of fraud in connection with the furnishing of the new $13,000,000 capitol, will, upon the formal presentation of its report to Governor Stuart on Friday, have completed its labors. The report was completed early Sunday morning at Beach Haven, N. J., where the commission had been in session for several weeks preparing the document, and the final session was held on Monday for the purpose of auditing the expenses of the investigation.

While all the commissioners have been bound to absolute secrecy regarding the report it is known that the Attorney General will institute criminal and civil suits against those who have been shown to have shared in the illegal profits. The Attorney General has been informed of the contents of the report, but he will make no public announcement of his intended action until after the matter is turned over to him by the Governor. The report, it is understood, contains no specific recommendation, but evidence of criminal intent is so plainly pointed out by the commission that it leaves the state authorities no alternative but to proceed against the persons named.

The investigation was brought about by State Treasurer Berry, the first Democrat to hold the office of State Treasurer in many years, who charged that there were gross overcharges and other irregularities in the expenditures for the furnishing of the capitol. His charges resulted in the creation of the commission by the Legislature last January. More than one hundred and fifty witnesses were examined and a great amount of evidence was gathered by experts. The Legislature appropriated $1,000,000 for the use of the commission, of which less than $40,000 remains. The surplus will probably be used in paying attorney fees and other expenses incident to the investigation.

LITTLE POCKET PHYSICIAN

Hy-o-mel is Guaranteed by F. W. Jordan to Cure Catarh.

Thousands who have been cured by Hy-o-mel call the inhaler, that comes with every outfit the "Little Pocket Physician," as it is so small that it can be carried in the pocket or purse.

There is really no excuse whatever for anyone having catarh now that Hy-o-mel is so readily obtainable. If you have any doubt about its value, F. W. Jordan will let you have a complete outfit, with the understanding that unless it cures catarh, it will not cost you a cent.

The complete Hy-o-mel outfit consists of the "Little Pocket Physician" and a bottle of Hy-o-mel and costs only $1.00, making it the most economical as well as the only guaranteed treatment for the cure of catarh. Remember that Hy-o-mel cures catarh without stomach dosing, applying the medication and healing where the disease germs are present. Aug. 16-20.

Point

August 13—On Tuesday last, C. E. Yarnell, wife and son, of Windber, and Mrs. George P. Hisong and two sons, of Pittsburg, paid the family of your correspondent a visit. Mr. Yarnell and wife returned to Windber on Wednesday, while Mrs. Hisong and sons remained in the community. The ladies came to see their aunt, Mrs. Hancock, who is still seriously ill.

Silas Darr and wife, of Limaville, O., took in a part of Old Home Week in Bedford and have been visiting among friends about Schellsburg since. They were the guests of R. C. Smith Monday and Monday night. They will spend some time visiting Mr. Darr's father and mother in Johnstown, and will visit Washington, Boston and several other places before their return. Mr. Darr is well pleased with Ohio, his present home. He is in the mercantile business at Limaville, which is a small town but can boast of a marble and several other manufactories.

Charles Blackburn has been spending a few days at his home. Blackburn, who lives on his father, C. W. Blackburn's farm near Fishertown, met with a painful accident in which his collarbone was broken and he was otherwise injured. He was selling some marketing to a huckster when the team started, entangling him in some way, and he was dragged some distance which caused the injuries. Hooker.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss. Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1886.

Schellsburg

August 14—Rev. C. E. Keller left Saturday morning for a short trip to Mechanicsburg, Altoona and Hagerstown, where he will visit his brother. He will return again to this place for the rest of his vacation.

Mrs. Lytle Egolf and Mrs. E. F. Johnston spent last Saturday at Sulphur Springs.

Miss Effie Hoover of Everett was visiting friends in town and vicinity last week.

Given Rose and family, of Johnstown, spent Saturday at W. C. Keyser's.

S. W. Beckley and family, of Toledo, O., spent Saturday with his brother, Manford Beckley. Mr. Beckley has not been back to his old home for two years.

Capt. A. E. Schell returned home Tuesday from Bedford, where he had been spending the week. He was accompanied home by his grandson, Frank Schell.

Mrs. John T. Rose left Saturday morning for Ocean Grove, where she will spend some time.

Miss Jesse Morris of Middleburg is visiting friends in and near town.

Mrs. William Poorman and son Clarence, of Highspire, are the guests of W. Y. Poorman and family.

Miss Lucile Grazier of Johnstown is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Keyser. Ralph Mowry and family, of Johnstown, are visiting home folks.

The ladies of the Reformed church will hold a festival on the church lawn Saturday evening, August 17. All are cordially invited to attend.

Silas Darr and wife, of Limaville, O., left Wednesday morning for their home, having spent several days with J. H. Rock and family.

Mrs. Jane Hoopengardner and child, of Everett, are visiting her brother, L. D. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Stofflet, of Hazleton, are the guests of Mrs. Stofflet's sister, Mrs. J. E. Garlinger.

The midsummer entertainment held at the Seminary Monday night was quite a success.

Mrs. Charles E. Keller and son, Edward L., who have been spending their vacation here, are now at Fishertown visiting friends.

Rev. R. P. Miller and family, returned to their home at Phillipsburg Wednesday morning, having spent several weeks in our town.

L. D. Kinzey and friend, of Ash-tola, visited J. B. Kinzey and family over Sunday.

Dr. Beltz of Ligonier was the guest of J. H. Rock and family a short time last week.

C. B. Colvin and family and Mrs. Annie Gollipier and daughter spent Sunday with A. G. Colvin and family at New Buena Vista. Mrs. Gollipier will remain there for a week.

Osterburg

August 13—Mr. and Mrs. George W. Oster spent Friday in Altoona.

J. H. Moses is spending this week in Altoona on business.

Mr. Chamberlain of Garrett has bought the mercantile establishment of C. B. Williams and took charge of the business this week.

Everything is in apple-pie order for the big picnic next week. Great changes and improvements have been made on the grounds, which will add comfort and pleasure to not only the public generally but privilege people as well. The booths and stands have all been changed and re-arranged. The management will be able to handle the large crowds to much better advantage than ever before. The coming picnic will be the largest one ever held here.

Waterside

August 14—S. F. Amick was a Sunday visitor in Snake Spring.

EYE-SIGHT SPECIALIST

TWO MORE DAYS

Friday and Saturday of Next Week, August 23 and 24, at the Bedford House, Bedford, Pa.

Next Visit in October.

EXAMINATIONS FREE.

DR. J. N. HELMAN

Dr. J. N. Helman of the Mahaffey Optical Company, 339 Fifth avenue, Pittsburg, Pa., will be at the Bedford House two more days, Friday and Saturday, August 23 and 24, for the purpose of testing the sight and the fitting of glasses, overcoming headaches, nervousness and all cases of defective vision, our specialties, particular attention given in the correcting of children's eyesight. We do not fit glasses unless they are needed, and when we take a case are sure to give permanent benefit. All lenses are guaranteed for two years and any change or correction needed within that time is made free of charge. Prices from $2 to $8. We do not peddle. Please call at hotel.

HOW WE DO BUSINESS

This firm carries on a perfectly legitimate optical business, giving full value for every penny received. Examinations are absolutely free. If you require glasses we will tell you so, give the price and you are at liberty to purchase or not. We do not urge you. There is no other reliable firm of eye-sight specialists making regular visits to Bedford county that do what we do—guarantee all lenses fitted for two years and make any change free of charge within that time. There is no expense after you purchase a pair of glasses, for at least two years. We use only the finest grade of crystal lenses and all corrections ground according to the prescription. We do not give you something near what you require but exactly what your case calls for. No drops or drugs used.

TO HEADACHE SUFFERERS

Headache is one of the most distressing ills that fall to the lot of mankind. While not serious in character it causes more actual suffering than most dangerous diseases. Twenty years ago all headaches were supposed to be caused in one way or another from the stomach. Now it is reversed and most all headaches and a great deal of stomach trouble can be traced to overtaxation of the eye nerves or muscles.

Hypermetropia (or far-sight), Myopia (or near-sight) and astigmatism, these three terms embrace the different structural defects which can readily be corrected with properly fitted glasses, and were every headache sufferer convinced of this fact there would be a great many more people wearing glasses and less money spent for medicine.

EVERETT, PA.

Dr. Helman will be at the Union Hotel, Everett, Pa., Monday and Tuesday, August 19 and 20.

LOVE SCORNS DEGREES

Love scorns degrees. The low he lifteth high. The high he draweth down to that fair plane Whereon in his divine equality Two loving hearts may meet, nor meet in vain. 'Gainst such sweet leveling custom cries amain. But o'er its harshest utterance one blandish. Breathed passionwise, doth mount victorious still. For Love, earth's lord, must have his lordly will. —Paul H. Hayne.

MIND MAKES BODY RICH

'Tis the mind that makes the body rich; And as the sun breaks through the darkest clouds, So honor peereth in the meanest habit. What is the joy more precious than the lark. Because his feathers are more beautiful? Or is the adder better than the eel, Because his painted skin contents the eye? —Shakespeare.

EQUALITY

All men are equal in God's sight. There is no black, and there is no white; There is no high, and there is no low; There is no friend, and there is no foe. And earthly passion and earthly pride The glance of the Godhead cannot abide. The petty distinctions of rank and caste Are shriveled and shrunk in the furnace blast Of God's great love when the angel Death Has stilled the heartbeats and stopped the breath.

And the gates of heaven as wide do swing For lowliest peasant as lordliest king. And the fires of hell burn just as bright For the rich or poor, for the black or white. —J. C. Brennan.

MAN

I know my soul hath power to know all things, Yet she is blind and ignorant in all. I know I'm one of Nature's little kings, Yet to the least and vilest things am thrall.

I know my soul hath power and but a span; I know my sense is mock'd in everything; And, to conclude, I know myself a Man— Which is a proud and yet a wretched thing. —Sir John Davies.

THE OPEN DOOR

["Remember that the door is open, so while you stay do not complain."—Epictetus.]

VISIT TO JERUSALEM

Series of Letters By a Correspondent Traveling

AROUND THE WORLD

Church of the Holy Sepulchre—Pilate's Palace and Mosque of Omar—Many Sacred Sites.

There is no sleeping after five o'clock in the morning in Jerusalem, at least for a traveller who is ensconced in a monastery hotel; such a jangling of bells, every note in the gamut of pounding clappers resounding on the frontiers of the new day, calling the faithful to mass and disturbing the rest of all others. Thus awakened on my first morning in Jerusalem, I arose and, ascending the lofty tower of the Notre Dame where the loudest of the bells had been ringing, looked upon the city and vicinity outspread in panorama of limestone and landscape. Inside the walls the scene was a jumbled confusion of houses, box-like concerns with flat roofs and parapets, evidently the summer sleeping-places of the inhabitants and each of them having somewhere on its top a dome resembling an inverted washbowl.

No streets were visible, but I imagined the shadowy rifts, running irregularly between the buildings, indicated thoroughfares. Every foot of available space was occupied by some structure of stone, not a vacant lot nor a piece of ground upon which to hang the least prospect of a real estate boom. An idea of the crowded condition inside the walls may be gathered from the statement that 40,000 people live and do business in a compressed locality half a mile square, and that there are a large number of mosques, churches and chapels besides. The houses, as a rule, have two floors in addition to the fresh air roof-garden affair on top, the first floor being occupied as a shop, the others for family living purposes, and the entire structure is rarely more than fifteen feet high.

The city outside the wall, quite as large as the one inside, had more space to air itself, and the buildings were more commodious, some of them even modern and the streets were of a generous width for an eastern town. After looking down upon the city and locating its prominent places by means of a map, I was the more anxious to see it from the inside, though I had originally intended to first go round the walls. Our company, excepting the priests who sight-saw by themselves, went into consultation with Jehosaphat and planned a tour of visitation, and when we issued in a body from the door of the Notre Dame a hundred or more fakirs, representing every phase of Jerusalem mendicancy and trade, flew at us with appeals. Garbled and twisted beggars held out gallon cans and rattled them with noisy importunity, and shopkeepers jerked our sleeves and insisted on showing us into their places of business. These shops were not numerous here but the goods were displayed in the doors so as to assist their appeals to the best advantage.

Damascus shawls glittered in tinsel from racks, Turkish artillery bristled from tables, olive wood camels sat complacently in full view and begged for a change of ownership, and all along the line Syrians were leaping above the squalling crowd and beckoning to us in a silent language that we understood to mean extra bargains. Jehosaphat, filling as he did the dual role as our guide and agent for every curio concern in the city, insisted that we visit the shops "just to see the beautiful things." But we rebelled with such vigor that he led us without further parleying through the mob and into the gate of the wall. The shopkeepers subsided but the beggars followed us until Jehosaphat turned upon them with imperious frown and drove them back.

The streets inside were only a few feet wide, indifferently paved with rock and led between low houses occupied for every purpose from a stuffy joint to a church. Presently we descended by a long passageway that looked more like steps of a mysterious hall than a street, till we came to an open court where gangs of folk in strange dress sat in the midst of beads and trinkets that they offered for sale. The beads, which predominated over other stuff, were of a blue color and possessed the virtue of keeping off the "evil eye," a sorcery of the spirits which is dreaded in the East. They are worn upon the ankles and arms, and even the donkeys and camels are protected by the beads from bewitchery when worn upon their heads or necks.

We were at the entrance to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, a sanctuary where religious superstition enacts its wildest orgies and perpetuates its silliest claptrap. In a niche to the left of the door inside, a company of Turks were playing at a game, callously indifferent to the throngs that came and went, some on missions of devotion, others like ourselves on a rambling tour of curiosity. Their duty was to interfere in case of a quarrel or a fight between the rival fanatics and the fact that numerous riots have occurred and that the sects still entertain exceeding bitterness toward each other, makes their constant presence a necessity and not a mere formality.

In front of us, under lamps and aboriginal gewgaws, was the Stone of Unction, which we were informed was the stone upon which Christ was laid after the crucifixion. A Russian pilgrim was kneeling before it, his hands uplifted and a look of passionate devotion on his face. How reverently he kissed the slab; how tenderly he pressed his lips against it; how his shock of unkempt yellow hair fell upon it and trembled with the fervency of the adoration. While we watched curiously he drew from his long heavy cloak a bunch of beads and rubbed them upon the stone, and likewise a number of handkerchiefs, to sanctify them and absorb the virtue of the holy thing, that he might use them in his far away home to cure his loved ones in case of sickness. And then he drew regretfully away to seek another object upon which to spend his high-wrought veneration, and others came, and still they kept coming, crowds of ignorant natives and pilgrims to go through the same pious routine. The rock is a fraud; about once every hundred years it wears away and is replaced; but the new one is kissed and venerated with undiminished fervor.

A few paces to the right, up a slight slope in the floor, in a dark apartment, is the reputed place of the crucifixion. It may or may not be the real Calvary but we approach it with the proper reverence and solemnity; I cannot jest at even the most consummate foolishness practiced here for it is practiced in religion's name. Over this sacred ground lamps and candles are burning and there are altars, one dedicated to Jesus, another to Mary. In the hill-top are revealed two holes incased in silver, wherein stood (?) 1900 years ago the crosses of Christ and the thieves. In the rock which is a part of the hill, exposed to view through an opening and protected by an iron grating, is a fissure alleged to have been made by the earthquake following the crucifixion; and through this crevice our guide, who believes all things, says the blood of Christ ran from his pierced side upon the head of Adam who was buried directly underneath, in that way becoming effective ex post facto.

A room cut from the rock in the side of this alleged Calvary is pointed out as the place where Empress Helena, mother of Constantine, in the fourth century remained while a search was being made for the three crosses. They were found in a cave in the side of the hill; it is said of this pious woman and is implicitly believed by the simple people who worship there, that in order to determine which of the three crosses was the one on which Christ was crucified she had a woman who was incurably ill placed upon them to test their virtue; that the invalid was thrown into convulsions when placed upon two of the crosses, but that the third restored her to perfect health. It is unnecessary to state that enlightened people look upon the traditions I mention here as absurd and disgusting, and most of the sites as utterly unreliable. Nevertheless to give the reader a clue to modern Jerusalem he must be made acquainted with the hundreds of fakes and frauds around which the ignorance and superstition of its people cluster. Ninety-five per cent. of the population of Jerusalem are religious cranks, everybody is religious—desperately, fanatically religious, but the religion is of a badly warped and depraved character.

A portion of the column to which Jesus was bound during the scourging is preserved in a niche under a latticed screen. The devout pilgrims, unable to kiss this object, do the next best thing—push a stick, kept there for the purpose, against the column and communicate their carresses through that medium. The footprints of Jesus are shown in the rocks, and stocks in which his feet were placed. There are all kinds of chapels, altars and contraptions erected over the supposed localities where the various events incident to the crucifixion occurred. There are; the Chapel of the Parting of the Raiment, another of the Invention of the Cross, (where the crosses were found) of the Crowning with Thorns, of the Derision, of the Raising of the Cross, of the Nailing to the Cross, of the Agony, of the Apparition where Christ appeared to Mary after the resurrection, and, last and most important of all, the Holy Sepulchre.

This chapel stands upon an elevated platform to which there is a small ante-room called the Chapel of the Angel. Here we waited half an hour for an opportunity to enter, the accommodations being limited, and when we did gain admission, it was with more than feelings of idle curiosity, for there are good grounds for believing this to be the very place where Jesus' body was laid and where, too, it was resurrected. Fifteen lamps were burning in this little room and it was hot to the perspiration point. In the center, protected from vandalism and kisses, is shown the stone which the angel rolled away from the tomb. Love is the only thing that is preserved and increased by a kiss; even the glass case over this stone is worn away in time by the lips of the devotees and has to be replaced.

Stooping low and perspiring freely we peered into the room of the sepulchre, and saw a priest, as he muttered constantly and mechanically, sprinkling holy water upon the heads of pilgrims, who were reverently, passionately kissing the spot where the Savior lay. When they—these pilgrims—retired, with a sorrow like that of a mother taking last leave of a child that was dead, we entered. Here the never-failing lamps were burning, forty-three of them, thirteen belonging each to the Latins, Greeks and Anians and four to the Copts. The tomb, which is two feet high, three feet wide and six feet four inches long, is cut in the side of the rock and is veneered with marble to protect it from vandalism and the integrating effect of kisses. Apertures in the ceiling of the chapel allow the smoke of the lamps to escape but the heat is intense. The priest stood ready to administer his blessing but we retired without receiving it.

In the side of the chapel is a hole through which the Holy Fire is given out on the Greek Easter. On that occasion fire appears in the hole and the Greek churchmen, supposing it to be the miraculous manifestation of the Holy Spirit, light torches from it, each fighting to be the first, and carry them about the church, burning their persons and acting like wild men. At such times the Turk force of guards is increased to protect the rival sects who would surely suffer, as they have several times, but for the intervention of the officers.

The tombs of Nicodemus and Joseph of Aramathea are near the Holy Sepulchre and two marble circles indicate where Jesus and Mary stood on the morning of the resurrection. In a large room, unoccupied for any other purpose, a rounded stone marks the exact center of the world, a geographical feat that was accomplished I know not how. It is part of the orthodoxy of Jerusalem that the world is flat and it is believed that imaginary lines drawn diagonally across this old globe from its four corners cross at this rock.

I have not yet mentioned the chapel of Longinus, the Roman soldier who thrust his spear into Jesus' side and who earned a place in this Westminster Abbey of Superstition; nor of the Chapel of Adam whose bones the resourceful priests have comprehended within the limits of this comprehensive sanctuary; nor the tomb of Melchizedek, nor scores of other chapels and sacred sites, enumeration and description of which would require a volume. But there are two objects located in the church about which there is no doubt—only these two: the tombs of Godfrey de Bouillon and Baldwin I, noble crusaders misled by a foolish fanaticism that is bearing fruit to this day.

I do not know whether this is the true place of the crucifixion and burial of Christ or not, but it is certain that no one knows the exact locality of the occurrences, which are fixed with such precision, and it is doubly certain that the veneration of these traditional places by the ignorant devotees of the cross, be they genuine or fictitious, is little short of absolute idolatry.

Upon leaving the Church we proceeded along the route of the Via Dolorosa, a narrow, crooked channel leading from the church through part of the business section to the place where the condemnation of Christ occurred. There are fourteen stations along this route marked in Latin thus: "Station 1," "Station 2," and so on, at each of which some incident of the procession to the cross occurred, such as the transfer of the cross to the back of Simon the Cyrene, etc. At this latter station, which is No. 6, there is a depression in the wall of a house, now worn to quite a cavity by the kisses of the faithful, which it is claimed was made by Jesus' hand as He fell under the weight of the cross.

It must be about three hundred yards from Calvary to the House of Pilate where, in my opinion, are seen today the remnants of that vacillating ruler's palace. Under the floor of a convent which stands at the place, several feet below the surface of the street, is a fragment of an old Roman pavement, and if this be in fact Pilate's palace, there can be no doubt that the pavement is a part of the Gabbatha of John xix, 13. The chequered rocks upon which the soldiers played their games of dice are visible yet. Connected with this old palace by the Ecce Homo arch is the Castle of Antonia where Paul adroitly pleaded his Roman citizenship to escape a whipping (Acts xxi, 37), and occupied as a garrison now as it was then.

This being a convenient point to enter the Temple Area we secured the attendance of a Turk guard—an absolute requirement—and stepped inside a rectangular walled enclosure, a large open space 1,000 by 1,500 feet in size, green with grass where it was not shining with white rock and marble. Jehosaphat at once began a peripatetic lecture on the history of Solomon's and Herod's temples, which we abruptly terminated—we could get all the history we wanted in books—and made our way to the great central and commanding feature, the Mosque of Omar. The old Temple in which Christians are interested was totally destroyed and not one stone was left upon another, a literal fulfillment of Jesus' prophecy, but a part of the original pavement of the court remains and a fragment of the wall that enclosed it—only these and nothing more.

The Mosque of Omar was erected in 691 as a Mohammedan fane and has remained such ever since except for a few spasmodic epochs when the crusaders were in possession of the city. It is a marble structure in the form of an octagon, each of the eight sides being 66 feet wide, and hovering over it a monstrous dome that is crowned with a gilded crescent. It is regarded by many travellers who are capable judges as the most beautiful structure in the world. I think this estimate the wildest kind of an exaggeration; there is certainly nothing surpassingly charming in the exterior except in comparison with the other architecture of degenerate Jerusalem.

Donning the inevitable snow shoes we entered through the inevitable door curtains and found ourselves in a large circular room that was more remarkable for what it contained than for its beauty. Squared under the dome was a rock, unheaven and irregular in shape, about 20 by 60 feet in dimensions, which marked the highest point of Mt Moriah. There is no question that upon this rock the sacrifices of the old temple were offered, for a hole leads from its surface to a subterranean chamber, and it is not doubted that the blood of the slain animals was disposed of through this channel. It is also believed that this is the place where Abraham prepared to offer up his son Isaac. The rock is enclosed and protected by an iron railing and it has not been touched by the polluting hand of any non-Mohammedan since the Crusaders. Two strands of the beard of Mahomet are kept in a case in the center of this temple and on a certain religious occasion once a year they are carried in a procession with much ceremony.

In the floor there is a slab of stone that contains three nails, and when we came upon this object we were informed by credulous Jehosaphat that Mahomet, during his temporal life, drove nineteen nails into it, that all but three had been extracted and that when the last one should be drawn the end of the world would come. We were assured that the payment of half a franc would so delight the prophet that our entry into his paradise would be guaranteed, but inasmuch as we already had a contract with One whom we believed to be even a greater Prophet than Mahomet, we did not care to run a risk of nullifying it by picking at this nail game, and ignored it at the expense of frowns and Arabic imprecations from those in charge.

These are all the temple contents; it is not a mosque at all; only a receptacle and enclosure for the Rock. The canopy of the dome is a graceful and majestic sweep of gold and brown wrought into charming designs, and translucent tiling in many colors over the numerous windows reduces the sunlight and diffuses it into a mellow and polychromatic radiance. This light, the windows and the dome, are beautiful, but the effect upon the eye, which would otherwise be entrancing, is marred by the presence of the huge, uncomely rock which predominates over every attempt at tasty ornamentation. In the cave underneath, excavated 2,000 years before Christ, are niches where Abraham and Jesus are said to have prayed. In the center of its floor a tramp of the foot resounds in a manner that indicates a cavity beneath, and authorities believe there is connection there with a sewer that carried off the blood of the sacrifices, but the Turks will not allow an examination to be made.

The temple has much of the stone of Herod's palatial temple in its walls and some of its pillars are said to be relics of the great temple of Solomon that astonished the Sheban queen. The pavements of the open courts are largely just as they were in Christ's time. There are certain chisel marks and styles of dressing on the stones of the Temple Area which enable antiquarians to identify them as of Jewish, Roman or Saracenic workmanship. The grounds contain numerous praying places, a marble

The Pennsylvania Railroad Wants Young Men

The increasing volume of traffic to be moved over the Pennsylvania Railroad demands more properly trained men of energy and ability to fill salaried positions in the departments of Traffic and Telegraphy.

To meet this demand, Mr. J. B. Fisher, Supt. of Telegraph of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., has established at Bedford, Pa., the Pennsylvania Railroad School of Telegraphy

The Object is to supply the Railway Service with young men properly equipped to fill salaried positions of importance.

The Course will cover the theory and practice of Railway Telegraphy, Railway Accounting and Agency Work commonly used in this branch of the railway service.

Time—The time required to complete the course will be from six to eight months.

Graduates, immediately upon completion of the course, will be provided with a salaried position in direct line of promotion.

Expenses—The bulk of the expense is carried by the Pennsylvania Railroad. The cost to the student is nominal—Entrance Fee, $1.00. Tuition, $2.00, monthly. Board and room can be secured in Bedford for $3.50 per week up.

Requirements—Young men between the ages of 17 and 25 are wanted. The applicant must possess good health and have a fair knowledge of the English language, mathematics and geography. Young men of ability—energy—action—are wanted.

Mohammedan pulpit with its accessory of stairs, and while we were rambling from point to point the call of the Moslem muezzins resounded from the minarets of the city. Our guard at once excused himself and joining a party on a plot of grass went through the genuflections of Mohammedan worship. Far off to the right near the Beautiful Gate a woman in black and veiled, as Moslem women always are, dropped to her knees, lifted her hands and then fell forward flat on the ground. We were struck by the intense devotion of these simple people and felt like taking off our hats out of respect to a religion that, however erroneous in many respects, will not permit its millions of devotees to worship in the presence of any picture nor become crazed over any stone or hole in the ground. S. J. Thomas.

Some Hints for the Fruit-Canner in the Home.

Before putting fruit in glass jars, wash them in soap suds containing a little soda. Then rinse well with scalding water, and set in the sun to dry.

If you want the flavor of the fruit to come out well, do not use an excess of sugar.

Never use poor fruit for canning. The best is none too good. Let it be as fresh as possible, and not over-ripe.

Handle it as little as possible. Have everything in readiness before you begin operations. The woman who has to run to pantry or kitchen every time a thing is wanted makes herself double the work that's necessary.

Use the best grade of sugar. It may cost a little more than the ordinary, but it will make your fruit enough better to pay the difference in cost.

Do not stir your fruit when it is cooking. If you want to know how it is coming along, take out a piece of it without disturbing the rest. Give it a brisk boiling. If allowed to stand and simmer it will not retain its shape well.

When the cans are ready for sealing, see that the covers fit perfectly. Never use one that does not hug down tightly to the shoulder of the jar.—From "The Country House Interior," by Eben E. Rexford in The Outing Magazine for August.

The Hen in Summer

Summer is the time when the farm poultry makes up for lost time. Fresh eggs are in demand, too—in fact, they always are. Market often. It pays. Feed milk to the laying hens. It contains just the ingredients for producing eggs. Biddy likes it, too, so give her plenty of it if you wish eggs.—Western Life.

Now is a splendid time to select and fatten the unthrifty stock.

The Newest China

White china has become a perfect fad among society people. Complete white china breakfast sets have been in fashion for some months, and a recent bride has among her presents a most attractive white coffee set. The dozen cups are of the thinnest quality of china, and the coffee pot, cream jug and sugar bowl are all of fine French china with the monogram in gold. Toilet sets in white china are also among the latest novelties.

Successful Teachers

Read what The Gazette said last week about the State Normal at California, Pa.; its skilled teachers and fine equipment. Its six large buildings give ample space for effective school work and a charming home life. Its thoroughly organized training school of four hundred pupils is one of the leading factors that render its graduates successful teachers from the start. Send for catalog, addressing "Normal," California, Pa.

Those who have stomach trouble, no matter how slight, should give every possible help to the digestive organs, so that the food may be digested with the least effort. This may be done by taking something that contains natural digestive properties—something like Kodol For Indigestion and Dyspepsia. Kodol is a preparation of vegetable acids found in the very same juices found in a healthy stomach. It digests what you eat. Sold by Ed. D. Heckerman.

"We never regret of eating too little," was one of the ten rules of life of Thomas Jefferson, President of the United States, and the rule applies to every one without exception during this hot weather, because it is hard for food, even in small quantities, to be digested when the blood is at high temperature. At this season we should eat sparingly and properly. We should also help the stomach as much as possible by the use of a little Kodol For Indigestion and Dyspepsia, which will rest the stomach by digesting the food itself. Sold by Ed. D. Heckerman.

Cure for Headache

For a dull heavy headache over the brows and accompanied by languor, chilliness and a feeling of general discomfort, with distaste for food, try a dose of iodide of potassium. Dissolve two grains of iodide of potassium in half a wineglassful of water, this being sipped so that the whole quantity may be consumed in about ten minutes.

TEN YEARS IN BED

"For ten years I was confined to my bed with disease of my kidneys," writes A. R. Gray, J. P., of Oakville, Ind. "It was so severe that I could not move part of the time. I consulted the very best medical skill available, but could get no relief until Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me. It has been a God-send to me." Ed. D. Heckerman.

Summer coughs and colds yield at once to Bees Laxative Cough Syrup. Contains honey and tar but no opiates. Children like it. Pleasant to take. Its laxative qualities recommended it to mothers. Hoarseness, coughs, croup yield quickly. Sold at Irvine's Drug Store.

Keep the pores open and the skin clean when you have a cut, burn, bruise or scratch. DeWitt's Carbolic Witch Hazel Salve penetrates the pores and heals quickly. Sold by Ed. D. Heckerman.

Pineules are for the Kidneys and Bladder. They bring quick relief to backache, rheumatism, lumbago, tired worn out feeling. They produce natural action of the kidneys in filtering waste matter out of the blood. 30 days treatment $1.00. Money refunded if Pineules are not satisfactory. Sold at Irvine's Drug Store.

Men Past Sixty in Danger

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate glands. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rockport, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years, although I am now 91 years old." Ed. D. Heckerman.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Wouldn't any woman be happy. After years of backache suffering, Days of misery, nights of unrest, The distress of urinary troubles, To find relief and cure? No reason why any reader Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. Almira A. Jackson, of East Front St., Traverse City, Mich., says: "For twenty years I was doctoring for kidney and liver trouble, but without benefit. Just before I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was almost paralyzed. I could hardly stand on my feet because of the numbness and weakness of the kidneys. I had a knife been thrust into my kidneys the pain could not have been more intense. My sleep was disturbed by visions of distorted figures. The kidney secretions were annoyingly irregular, and I was tortured with thirst and always bloated. I used seven boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills. The bloating subsided until I weighed 100 pounds less, could sleep like a child and was relieved of the pain and the irregularity of the kidney action. My circulation is good and I feel better in every way."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mrs. Jackson will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

Does Not Color Hair.

Ayer's Hair Vigor, as now made from our new improved formula, does not stain or color the hair even to the slightest degree. Gray hair, white hair, blonde hair is not made a shade darker. But it certainly does stop falling hair. No question about that.

Does not change the color of the hair.
 Formula with each bottle
 Show it to your doctor
 Ask him about it,
 then do as he says

Indeed, we believe it will stop every case of falling hair unless there is some very unusual complication, something greatly affecting the general health. Then you should consult your physician. Also ask him about the new Ayer's Hair Vigor.

BROADBRIM'S BUDGET

of our ledger of $200,000,000, and if the destruction of wheat continues in Corea, Manchuria, and many of the Russian possessions, which up to five years ago were large exporters, I shall expect to see next year's increase in riches double that of this year.

Although the telegraphers' strike looks like a very serious matter, the fun still goes on in society—breakfasts, dinners and lunches are given with an extravagance almost beyond belief. A lady friend who entertained Prince Henry paid $1,500 for "beauty roses" to deck her dining-room, and a rich Californian footed a flower bill of $20,000. Theaters and music halls are full every night, but the "wolf" is not at our door.

LETTER TO C. B. BRODE.

Bedford, Pa.

Dear Sir: A ten-year-old boy came into a store for a quart of white paint and said: "They are nice letters Devoe writes, a'n't they, Mr. Knight?" In Bridgeton, Maine.

"Are they what brought you here?" asked the merchant. "Yes," said the boy, "a quart of white; and I've come for the least-gallons paint."

That boy'll be a man before his mother.

Yours truly,

DON'T PUT IT OFF LONGER

Get Rid of That Indigestion at Once by Using Mi-o-na.

Many people in Bedford are slowly poisoning themselves by chronic indigestion. Their neglect to cure sluggishness of the important organs of digestion fills the system with fermenting and decaying food that results in sick headache, heartburn, bad taste in the mouth, and many other symptoms.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets are for the special relief of such sufferers. They quickly cure the worst cases of indigestion and when used a few days the pain and distress often felt after meals will disappear.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets cost but 50 cents a box and do more good than a dozen boxes of the ordinary digestive tablets. F. W. Jordan gives an absolute, unqualified guarantee to refund the money if Mi-o-na fails to cure. August 16-21.

THE PROOF.

A shoe should clasp the foot so gently that its wearer is unconscious of its presence. To be conscious of carrying a shoe about on your foot is to prove it well, a failure. The new "Queen Quality" Custom Grade Oxfords possess this fit. Shod with the handsome model of Gun Metal shown above, you could walk miles without once being reminded of your feet. Price $3.00.

Big Reunion

Cessna, Pa., August 13, 1907. The Hershberger - Wisegarver-Koontz reunion was held last Saturday, August 10, in William Hershberger's grove near Cessna. From 165 to 170 persons were present; many relatives and friends from Pleasantville, Bedford, Schellsburg, Fishertown and other parts of the county. Many others were present from Altoona, Johnstown, Jeannette, Greensburg, Pittsburgh, New Kensington, Mt. Pleasant, and other localities.

The president, John J. Hershberger, secretary, E. A. Hershberger, and the executive committee, consisting of William Koontz, Henry Wisegarver and Samuel Hershberger of Johnstown, held a business session and elected the present chairman and secretary for the coming year, and selected Jacob Wisegarver, George Z. Koontz and Samuel Hershberger of Johnstown as the executive committee.

After a sumptuous dinner had been partaken of by all present the secretary gave a short family history of the three old families, closing with a very appropriate address and wishing all "God speed" and hoping for many more meetings in the future.

Closing Services at Reformed Church. Before large congregations morning and evening, Rev. Mr. Apple closed his pastorate of the St. John's congregation, this place. Both sermons were unfoldings of the thought expressed in I Cor. 1: 23-24: "We preach Christ crucified." The Power of God and the Wisdom of God. Rev. Dr. C. J. Musser, a college classmate and intimate friend, assisted in the service in the morning and Rev. E. E. Bauman in the evening. The former helped ordain Mr. Apple when he entered the ministry as pastor of the Friend's Cove charge, and the latter was a member of the committee who four years ago installed him pastor of the Bedford charge.

Becomes Agent For Most Popular Patterns.

The readers of this paper will be delighted to learn that they may, after September 1, obtain the up-to-date and original at Barnett's Store, Bedford, Pa. There has been a rapidly increasing demand for these patterns, which are exclusive in design, modern in their ideas and the way they are put together and, withal, within the means of every one.

Ladies' Home Journal Patterns

The Barnett's Store has become agents for these patterns because they thoroughly believe in their merit and their ability to give satisfaction, and also because it is their intention to procure the best of everything for their patrons. These for several reasons, after careful deliberation, were conceded to be the best, not only from the point of style, but for the simplicity and accuracy of their working models and the helpfulness of the guide chart which accompanies each pattern. This guide chart instructs one in the important details of cutting and fitting, and shows one how to use material to advantage and without mistakes. The prices of these patterns are 10 and 15c. A monthly style book, illustrating the Ladies' Home Journal patterns, will be given to all who desire it, and all orders will be promptly and carefully attended to. In a word, Bedford county people may congratulate themselves upon having these very smart and in every sense desirable patterns so conveniently located for their inspection and purchase.

We will also receive subscriptions for the Ladies' Home Journal,
